Several years ago the industry leaders established programs to recycle production scrap and waste.

Today we are pleased to join the efforts of the U.S. Green Building Council and LEED Program to improve the environment and economic performance of construction projects.

LEED is only intended to accredit an entire building or project that meets standards utilizing energy and environmental design. Our products, however, may help you earn credits for your project to become LEED certified.

Our products can contribute points in the following categories as outline below:

Changes made in material or FOB past the issue date of this document render this statement null and void.

LEED Category	Section	Description	Metal Lockers
Recycled Contents	MR Credit 4.1& 4.2	Post -Consumer	25-35%
		Pre-Consumer	10-15%

No order number was provided for this requirement and we assume shipment FOB point

LEED Category	Section	Miles Between Project and Point of Fabrication/Distribution
Regionally Manufactured Materials	MR Credit 5.1& 5.2	503.74
